The Proposed Final Judgment as written allows and encourages Microsoft to continue in its current anticompetitive behavior. It allows Microsoft to retaliate against OEM's who provide non-windows operating systems on new hardware. It allows anticompetitive licensing. It allows Microsoft to create intentional incompatibilities to maintain its monopoly hold on the desktop and applications. It should not be adopted without substantial revision to fix this.

I am a developer who has worked in the computer industry for the last 11 years, programming on Windows and Unix.
I am also a consumer who resents being forced to buy a Microsoft OS in order to buy new hardware.
